borrower or by the lender, the premium or premiums for the renewal of the insurance may be paid by the latter and may in consequence be added to the amount of the interest payment next maturity unless the lender prefer immediately to exact the payment thereof.

Article fourteenth.—The title deeds of the property mortgaged shall remain in the hands of the lender until complete repayment of the loan.

The contract of loan will become null and void if not completed within the delay of one month from the date of the application, without any mise en demeure being necessary, unless the lender prefer to demand the execution of the contract. The borrower obliges itself to make known to the lender, within the delay of one month from the date thereof, any sale total or partial he may effect, and, in default, of his making known such sale as well as in default of the holder consenting in favor of the lender, an election of domicile agreeably with clause twelfth above, the loan, in capital, interest and indemnity, shall become exigible. The borrower declares the hypothecated property to be charged with no other hypothec than that mentioned in the "description of property" annexed to its application.

Article fifteenth.—The said borrower expressly undertakes and obliges itself to have the present deed of loan and hypothec ratified by the Legislature of the Province of Quebec, within one year from this date, specially ratifying and confirming the hypothec created on said property as security for said debt.
