CAP. XL.

An act to civilly erect the parish of Notre-Dame Auxiliatrice de Buckland, in the county of Bellechasse.

[Assented to 30th March, 1883.]

Preamble.

WHEREAS the parish of Notre-Dame Auxiliatrice de Buckland, in the county of Bellechasse, has been canonically erected into a parish, on the application of the parties interested, by a decree of the Archbishop of Quebec, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-two;

Whereas the aforesaid canonical decree assigns to such parish the boundaries and extent hereafter set forth, to wit:

"An extent of territory about eight miles in front by about four miles in depth, bounded as follows: to the north, by the seigniority of St. Lazaire, from the line dividing the eighth from the ninth range of Buckland, the starting point, running towards and as far as the parish of St. Cajetan d'Armagh; thence, running in a southerly direction, by the line dividing the township of Buckland from that of Armagh, and afterwards by the line dividing the township of Buckland from that of Mailloux, as far as the line dividing the first from the second range of Mailloux ; thence, running in an easterly direction, by the latter line as far as that which divides lot number twenty from number twenty-one, in the second range, and lot number twenty from twenty-one, in the third range of Mailloux, as far as the line which separates the third from the fourth range ; thence, running in a westerly direction by the latter line as far as that which divides the township of Mailloux from that of Buckland ; thence, in a southerly direction by the latter line, as far as that which divides the township of Buckland from that of Standon ; thence, in a westerly direction by the latter line as far as that which divides the seventh from the sixth range of the township of Buckland ; thence, in a northerly direction, by the latter line, as far as that which divides lots number thirty-three A from thirty-three B, in the seventh range of Buckland ; thence, in an easterly direction, by the latter line, as far as that which divides the eighth from the seventh range ; thence, in a northerly direction, by the latter line, as far as that which divides lot number twenty from number twenty-one in the eighth range ; thence, in an easterly direction, by the latter line, as far as that which divides the eighth from the ninth range ; thence, in a northerly direction, by the latter line, as far as the place where it meets the line dividing the township of Buckland from the seignior of St. Lazare, the starting point ;”

Therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislature of Quebec, enacts as follows :

1. The parish of Notre-Dame Auxiliatrice de Buckland, Parish of Notre Dame Auxiliatrice de Buckland above mentioned, with the boundaries and extent of territory assigned to it, is by this act recognized, erected and confirmed as a parish for all civil purposes, as amply and with the same effect as if it had been recognized, erected, and confirmed by the commissioners who are empowered so to do in virtue of the laws in force in that respect.

And as regards its future dismemberment or division for civil purposes, the said parish shall be subject to the same provisions of law as if it had been civilly erected and recognized by the commissioners appointed for that purpose ; provided always that this act shall not in any way prejudice the municipal apportionments or the rights of the fabrique to which the locality, hereby erected into a civil parish, belongs. Proviso as to future dismemberment, &c. Proviso as to certain rights.
